dall'album "Tilion"

The sheet music consists of five staves of musical notation for a single instrument, likely a recorder or flute. Each staff begins with a treble clef and a common time signature (indicated by a 'C'). The music is divided into measures by vertical bar lines. Below each staff, there is a series of letter and number pairs (e.g., D7, T7, CcCc) which serve as fingerings. The notes are primarily eighth notes, with some sixteenth-note patterns. The music includes several rests and dynamic markings like 'f' (fortissimo) and 'p' (pianissimo). Measure numbers (1, 1-3, 4, 18, 26, 36, 45) are placed above specific measures. The first staff ends with a repeat sign and a double bar line.
